BRINGS THE GOODNESS OF FRENCH BAKING TO GALLE

Baguette French Bakery & Café opened a new outlet in Galle on May 27, fulfilling a long-held demand from customers in the island's Southern region. The pioneer in introducing authentic, sourdough French bread, pastry items, savoury baked goods, cakes and sweets to Sri Lanka, Baguette was founded in 2016 by French national Nathalie Pujolle, who received training in pastry at the French culinary school - "Le Cordon Bleu".

The newly opened outlet functions as a bakery and café at 321 Matara Rd within easy reach of Galle's popular SeaFair supermarket. Baguette's spacious outlet seats 16 dine-in customers who can enjoy an extensive menu of food and drink items such as crepes, croissant sandwiches, quality coffee, tea and chocolate drinks. The outlet offers on-site baking and will cater to individuals and businesses.

Baguette also works closely with local suppliers to offer a high-quality complementary product range including cheese, jam, spreads, ice cream, various drinks and coffee.

Ms Pujolle who has worked in Japan twenty years came to Sri Lanka with the goal to introduce authentic sourdough bread and French baked goods to the country. For eight years her customers have been enjoying quality products made daily out of the company's production center in Kohuwala. She revealed that Baguette has seen a shift in customers. While the bakery and café initially attracted foreign customers for the most part, health-conscious, curious Sri Lankans represent now the vast majority of its customers, patronising the business for its constant, high-quality baked goods, and its fast and friendly service. A little corner of France in Sri Lanka. Baguette has a flagship outlet at 31, Queens Rd in Colombo 03.
